

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURAL STUDIES MINOR

Landscape Architecture is the study, design and construction of the world around us, the built and altered environment – our collective landscape. Courses within the Minor in Landscape Architectural Studies focus on building foundational awareness of and appreciation for the processes, ideas, logics and tools that have fundamentally shaped, and continue to shape, those landscapes. Courses focus on the process of design and the analysis of both vernacular and designed landscapes as a means to open greater awareness of and conversation around our collective environment.

The minor consists of 12 credit hours from the Section's offerings. At least 6 credit hours must be in courses at the 3000-level or above.

No permissions or approvals are required from the Section to pursue the Minor, though students should alert college or school counselors of their intent to complete the Minor, so that the correct plan can be added to their records and tracked in the degree auditing system.
